

TEST 1

Read the following advertisement and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the option that best fits each of the numbered blanks from 1 to 6.

Unfiltered Futures: Equality Without Exceptions

- Equality serves as our powerful and transformative foundation, constantly inspiring (1)_____ communities globally through meaningful engagement. Join us in creating a society where opportunities are for everyone. People (2)_____ embrace diversity and inclusion with genuine enthusiasm find themselves part of stronger, more innovative communities.
- Organizations truly (3)_____ to equal representation across all departments consistently achieve better results in the marketplace. We believe together we can build (4)_____ futures where every voice matters. Our mission is to establish a profound paradigm shift in how society approaches equality for all citizens.
- It's time to (5)_____ boldly and passionately for a world where everyone has the same chance to succeed, regardless of their background. The vast (6)_____ of successful and thriving societies understand that embracing differences creates stronger communities.
- ❖ Join our movement today and help shape a future where equality isn't just a goal—it's our reality.

Question 1: A. hopefulness B. hopefully C. hopeful D. hopelessness

Question 2: A. which B. whose C. whom D. who

Question 3: A. committed B. have committed C. was committed D. committing

Question 4: A. inclusive B. unfiltered C. equitable D. unrestricted

Question 5: A. speak out B. step forward C. stand up D. reach out

Question 6: A. amount B. quantity C. handful D. majority

Read of the following leaflet and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the option that best fits each of the numbered blanks from 7 to 12.

Spotlight Vietnam: International Organizations' New Favorite Partner

- Vietnam has been (7)_____ the forefront of economic development in Southeast Asia for the past decade with remarkable resilience and determination. The (8)_____ consistently attract international business leaders from across the globe seeking sustainable growth potential.
- Vietnam continues to build partnerships with organizations worldwide. The country offers political stability and a young, skilled workforce, (9)_____ it also provides generous tax incentives and streamlined regulations that make it particularly attractive to investors. While many countries in the region compete for international attention, Vietnam stands out as (10)_____ remarkable success story with unique advantages and proven economic resilience.
- Through strategic collaborations and comprehensive economic reforms, Vietnam has managed to (11)_____ regional leadership in several key industries with impressive confidence and capability. Recent infrastructure improvements and forward-thinking policy changes have helped the country gain international (12) _____ as a reliable partner for long-term investment and sustainable development initiatives.

- ❖ Join the growing number of organizations discovering Vietnam's potential—your gateway to success in Southeast Asia!

Question 7: A. at B. in C. for D. about

Question 8: A. investment opportunities impressive B. impressive opportunities investment
C. impressive investment opportunities D. opportunities investment impressive

Question 9: A. without B. unless C. but D. although

Question 10: A. others B. the others C. other D. another

Question 11: A. solidify B. cement C. establish D. consolidate

Question 12: A. reputation B. recognition C. credibility D. standing

Mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best arrangement of utterances or sentences to make a meaningful exchange or text in each of the following questions from 13 to 17.

Question 13:

- a. Emma: Because different people have different good ideas, and when everyone can work, the whole country gets richer!
- b. Emma: Did you know that companies with equal numbers of men and women workers make more money?
- c. Jack: Really? That's interesting! Why does that happen?

A. c-b-a B. b-c-a C. a-c-b D. b-a-c

Question 14:

- a. Minh: ASEAN is a group of ten countries in Southeast Asia, and they work together because they want to help each other grow.
- b. Alex: That sounds good, but how does Vietnam help the other countries?
- c. Alex: What is ASEAN, and why is it important for Vietnam?
- d. Minh: Vietnam builds bridges and roads that connect to other countries, and we also sell rice to our neighbors when they need food.
- e. Minh: Hello Alex, I am from Vietnam, and my country works with other countries in ASEAN.

A. b-a-c-e-d B. e-d-b-a-c C. c-b-e-d-a D. e-c-a-b-d

Question 15:

Dear Sam,

- a. Although we often hear stories about lone inventors who work by themselves, most inventions come from teams that work together.
- b. If you are interested in this topic, we could visit the science museum, where they explain how big teams create new things.
- c. I'm writing to share what I learned about inventors, which changed how I think about creativity.

- d. When Thomas Edison invented the light bulb, he had many helpers who did important work, even though he got all the credit.
- e. I was surprised when my teacher told us that the internet, which we use every day, was created by hundreds of people over many years.

Your friend,

LK

- A. e-d-c-a-b B. a-b-d-c-e C. c-a-d-e-b D. a-e-c-d-b

Question 16:

- a. When we understand that different people need different kinds of support, we can build a society where everyone has a real chance to do well, even though our help isn't exactly the same for each person.
- b. For example, if two students need to climb stairs, but one student uses a wheelchair, they need a ramp instead of stairs, which is different but fair.
- c. Some people think equality means everyone gets the same help, but true fairness happens when we give each person what they actually need to succeed.
- d. Equal treatment means we give everyone the same things, but sometimes this is not enough because people start from different places in life.
- e. In schools, teachers understand this idea when they give extra time to students who read slowly or when they explain things in different ways so all students can learn.

- A. d-b-c-e-a B. c-e-b-d-a C. b-e-d-c-a D. e-c-d-b-a

Question 17:

- a. Vietnam sends athletes to the Olympic Games, and this helps our country make friends around the world.
- b. Although Vietnam is a small country, our sports teams build bridges between Vietnam and other nations when they compete in friendly competitions.
- c. The Olympic Committee works hard to train young athletes, but they also teach them how to be good representatives of Vietnam when they travel abroad.
- d. We are proud of our Olympic athletes because they show Vietnam's strength and determination, and they help create a positive image of our country on the world stage.
- e. When Vietnamese athletes win medals, people from other countries learn about Vietnam, and they become interested in our culture and history.

- A. a-b-c-e-d B. a-c-d-e-b C. a-e-c-b-d D. a-d-c-b-e

Read the following passage about Closing Gender Gaps Through Learning and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the option that best fits each of the numbered blanks from 18 to 22.

Education represents one of the most powerful tools for addressing gender inequality worldwide. When girls attend school regularly, their communities thrive; (18)_____. Research consistently shows that educated women not only earn higher incomes but also make better health choices for themselves and their families, which creates a positive cycle of development. Had governments invested more in girls' education decades ago, many countries would now be experiencing greater economic prosperity and social cohesion.

(19)_____, supported by extensive research worldwide, remains unshaken. Schools in rural communities often lack adequate resources and trained teachers, (20)_____. Some regions have made remarkable progress in gender parity; nevertheless, cultural barriers continue to limit opportunities for many girls. The COVID-19 pandemic, unfortunately, reversed many gains, with UNESCO estimating that approximately 11 million girls might never return to school after disruptions.

Successful models from countries like Rwanda and Bangladesh demonstrate that rapid progress is possible with the right policies and community engagement. Organizations that focus on teacher training and gender-sensitive curricula (21)_____. Ultimately, achieving gender equality through education requires sustained commitment from all stakeholders, including parents, educators, policymakers, and community leaders, (22)_____.

Question 18:

- A. meanwhile healthcare systems evolve rapidly while governments struggle allocating sufficient resources
- B. although implementing technological solutions, businesses transform traditional markets through digital innovation
- C. moreover, economic growth requires sustainable practices yet environmental concerns remain secondary
- D. therefore, investing in female education yields multiple long-term societal benefits

Question 19:

- A. The understanding how cultural exchanges meaningfully and naturally strengthen communities by preserving traditions
- B. The argument whether technological innovation rapidly and inevitably transforms workplaces by eliminating barriers
- C. The belief that education fundamentally and consistently transforms society by empowering women
- D. The recognition what environmental sustainability profoundly and consistently improves economies through resource management

Question 20:

- A. economic systems require constant innovation whereas educational reforms remain central to many developing countries' priorities
- B. yet innovative solutions like mobile learning centers and digital platforms are helping bridge these gaps
- C. therefore communities develop sustainable practices although local businesses invest in regional environmental protection initiatives
- D. while transportation networks expand across rural regions because urban planners implement comprehensive development strategies efficiently

Question 21:

- A. which provide economic opportunities that enable communities across various rural districts

- B. have shown impressive results in reducing dropout rates among female students
- C. offer valuable insights where students develop critical thinking through collaborative projects
- D. having created sustainable frameworks while implementing technological solutions for educational challenges

Question 22:

- A. who must work together to dismantle systemic barriers that prevent girls from realizing their full potential
- B. has implemented technological innovations that was transforming educational systems across developing nations since early 2020
- C. whose economic policies created frameworks which businesses are utilizing them to develop sustainable manufacturing practices globally
- D. researchers documented environmental changes that continues affecting agricultural sustainability throughout various geographic regions despite recent interventions

Read the following passage about Geographic Disparities in Gender Progress and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions from 23 to 30.

The journey toward gender equality varies dramatically depending on geographic location. Urban environments typically offer women more opportunities for advancement, while rural settings often present significant obstacles. This urban-rural divide creates persistent disparities in how gender progress unfolds. Cultural attitudes, access to resources, and economic structures all contribute to these differences, making geography a crucial factor in determining the pace of change for women's rights and opportunities.

In rural areas, women frequently encounter substantial barriers to progress. Educational access remains limited, with many girls leaving school early to help with household responsibilities or due to long, sometimes dangerous commutes to distant schools. Employment opportunities for rural women are typically restricted to low-paying agricultural work or informal sectors. Healthcare services are often inadequate, with maternal care being particularly deficient. Additionally, traditional gender roles tend to be more deeply entrenched in rural communities, where women's primary role is frequently viewed as caretaking rather than pursuing career ambitions.

Urban environments generally facilitate greater gender progress through multiple mechanisms. Cities offer more diverse educational institutions, from primary schools to universities, typically within reasonable distances from their residents. Employment markets in urban areas present a wider range of opportunities, including positions in corporate settings, government, and entrepreneurship. Healthcare facilities are more numerous and accessible, providing better support for women's health needs. Moreover, urban settings often expose residents to diverse perspectives, which can gradually erode restrictive gender norms and foster more progressive attitudes.

Bridging the rural-urban gender gap requires targeted interventions. Mobile clinics can bring healthcare to remote areas, while distance learning programs may increase educational access.

Infrastructure improvements, particularly in transportation and internet connectivity, can connect rural women to urban opportunities without requiring relocation. Most crucially, policymakers must acknowledge these geographic disparities when designing gender equality initiatives, ensuring that progress reaches all women, regardless of where they live.

Question 23: According to the passage, all of the following contribute to gender disparities EXCEPT.

- A. Cultural attitudes
- B. Religious institutions
- C. Access to resources
- D. Economic structures

Question 24: The word “unfolds” in paragraph 1 is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____.

- A. stagnates
- B. develops
- C. progresses
- D. emerges

Question 25: The word “entrenched” in paragraph 2 could be best replaced by _____.

- A. temporary
- B. shallow
- C. ingrained
- D. weakened

Question 26: The word “their” in paragraph 3 refers to _____.

- A. educational institutions
- B. universities
- C. residents
- D. cities

Question 27: Which of the following best paraphrases the underlined sentence in paragraph 4?

- A. Better roads and digital networks primarily serve to reduce isolation rather than expanding economic options for rural communities.
- B. Rural women should consider moving to urban centers despite improvements in transportation and internet access in their areas.
- C. Urban centers must extend their transit systems and digital infrastructure to attract more workers from surrounding rural regions.
- D. Enhanced transportation and internet access allow rural women to benefit from urban opportunities while remaining in their communities.

Question 28: Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

- A. Urban environments expose residents to diverse perspectives that help erode restrictive gender norms.
- B. Rural areas provide women with greater access to quality maternal healthcare than urban centers do.
- C. Geographic location has minimal impact on the advancement of women's rights and opportunities.
- D. Most policymakers have successfully addressed the urban-rural divide in gender equality initiatives.

Question 29: In which paragraph does the writer mention that women in rural areas face significant challenges to gender progress?

- A. Paragraph 1
- B. Paragraph 2
- C. Paragraph 3
- D. Paragraph 4

Question 30: In which paragraph does the writer mention how urban environments promote gender progress?

- A. Paragraph 1
- B. Paragraph 2
- C. Paragraph 3
- D. Paragraph 4

Read the following passage about the Gender-Based Violence as a Global Barrier and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions from 31 to 40.

The consequences of gender-based violence extend far beyond immediate physical harm. Survivors often experience long-lasting psychological trauma, including depression, anxiety, and post-traumatic stress disorder. Economic impacts are equally devastating, with many victims losing employment or educational opportunities due to injury, trauma, or controlling partners. Healthcare systems bear significant costs treating injuries from violence, while legal systems frequently fail to provide justice. [II] These combined effects create substantial barriers to achieving gender equality in societies around the world.

Progress in combating gender-based violence has been uneven globally. While some countries have implemented strong protective legislation and support systems, others lack basic legal frameworks to address the issue. [IV] International organizations continue to advocate for stronger commitments from governments worldwide. The path forward requires sustained funding, political will, and recognition that gender-based violence is not a private family matter but a serious human rights violation. Only by addressing this fundamental barrier can societies achieve true gender equality and allow all people to reach their full potential.

A. stay up B. turn in C. wake up D. set off

A. Long-lasting psychological trauma

B. Reduced participation in political processes

C. Economic impacts on employment opportunities

D. Healthcare system costs

This violence transcends borders, cultures, and economic backgrounds, affecting approximately one in three women globally.

- A. [I] B. [II] C. [III] D. [IV]

Question 34: The word “bear” in paragraph 2 is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____.

- A. endure B. sustain C. relinquish D. shoulder

Question 35: Which of the following best summarises paragraph 3?

- A. Educational programs for youth are the most effective solution to gender-based violence, while community engagement plays only a secondary role in addressing cultural attitudes.
- B. Legal reforms must be prioritized above all other interventions since they provide the strongest protection for survivors and establish clear consequences for perpetrators.
- C. Support services like shelters and counseling represent the critical first step in addressing gender violence, with prevention programs following after victims are secured.
- D. Combating gender-based violence requires multiple coordinated approaches, including prevention, education, legal reforms, support services, and community engagement to address root causes.

Question 36: The word “their” in paragraph 3 refers to _____.

- A. prevention programs
- B. harmful gender norms
- C. root causes
- D. multiple levels

Question 37: Which of the following best paraphrases the underlined sentence in paragraph 4?

- A. Societies cannot attain genuine gender equality or enable complete human development without confronting this essential obstacle of gender-based violence.
- B. While addressing gender-based violence is important, societies may achieve gender equality through various alternative approaches to human development.
- C. True gender equality depends primarily on economic development rather than specifically targeting the issue of gender-based violence.
- D. Once societies achieve gender equality, they will automatically resolve the fundamental barrier of violence and unlock everyone's potential.

Question 38: Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

- A. Gender-based violence is primarily a problem in developing nations and rarely affects women in countries with strong legal systems.
- B. Most legal systems worldwide have successfully implemented comprehensive frameworks that provide justice for survivors of gender-based violence.
- C. The economic consequences of gender-based violence are minor compared to the psychological impact, which should be the primary focus of interventions.
- D. Approximately one in three women globally is affected by gender-based violence, which transcends borders, cultures, and economic backgrounds.

Question 39: Which of the following can be inferred from the passage?

- A. Economic assistance to survivors is more effective than prevention programs targeting the root causes of gender-based violence.

- B. Legal reforms alone can solve the problem of gender-based violence if properly implemented in all countries worldwide.
- C. Cultural attitudes and norms require fundamental shifts for lasting progress in reducing gender-based violence across communities.
- D. Gender-based violence affects all women equally, regardless of their socioeconomic status or cultural background.

Question 40: Which of the following best summarises the passage?

- A. Gender-based violence primarily affects certain cultural contexts and requires international intervention, with economic impacts being less significant than psychological trauma, and legal reforms being the most crucial pathway to meaningful progress.
- B. Gender-based violence is a pervasive human rights violation with far-reaching psychological and economic consequences that demand comprehensive approaches, including prevention, education, legal reform, and community engagement, with progress varying globally.
- C. Gender-based violence exists primarily as a psychological phenomenon affecting women's mental health, requiring therapeutic interventions and awareness campaigns rather than systemic changes to legal frameworks or challenging established cultural attitudes and norms.
- D. Gender-based violence represents a significant but decreasing problem as awareness grows, with most countries having developed adequate legal protections and support systems that need only minor improvements rather than fundamental cultural or systemic changes.